

Internet Safety for Kids: Link List

The audio course, “Internet Safety for Kids,” complete course handouts and additional resources can be found online at www.packet-level.com/kids .

www.ci.keene.nh.us/police/task_force.htm Keene Country police department task force on child exploitation; Detective McLaughlin’s Advice for Parents; Offender Profile document www.cybertipline.com Direct access to the NCMEC CyberTipline for leads relating to child sexual exploitation; phone number is 1-800-843-5678

www.fbi.gov/hq/cid/cac/states.htm State Sex Offender Registry Web Site entry point; contains links to additional resources relating to child pornography, kidnappings, and federal statutes www.htcia.org High Technology Crime Investigation Association – group of law enforcement officers and private citizens working together on high-tech crime issues; webcast archives offer free training (recommended: the Data Mining course) www.isafe.org Organization formed to develop and deliver education (K-12) on internet safety and responsible use of the Internet; i-Parent courses and certified instructor program in place www.livewwwires.com LiveWires Design – group that developed the Missing Game (available in family and workshop editions; recommended for ages 11-14)

Internet Safety for Kids Link List Page 2

www.ncmec.org National Center for Missing and Exploited Children (NCMEC) – maintains the CyberTipline for reporting incidents, numerous resource materials and studies online www.netsmartz.org NetSmartz Group (sponsored by NCMEC) – provides instruction on Internet safety for a range of age groups; games and quizzes; interviews with teens who have been abducted (Julie’s Journey, Amy’s Choice); visit www.netsmartz.org/education/ut to download the i360 program for off-line viewing of educational materials www.packet-level.com/kids Location of the Internet Safety for Kids audio presentation, slide set, handouts, resource list and instructor/parent supplements www.webwisekids.org Excellent rescores for parents to help understand and train their children on how to be safe online.